The Sidewalks of Chicago
A Cup of Coffee, Please
Ideas That Mean It
Revealing Fingerprints
By Arthur Brisbane

Chicago, Ill., June 15.—From other columns in this newspaper you will gather information concerning the Republican convention which started yesterday very quietly. A national convention dull, with everything done in advance like this one, or full of strange possibilities as the Democratic convention may be interesting for all it shows the machinery of "self government."

Depression, unemployment, worry that drives to suicide are the day's problems. You see the solution for many years. Just east of the Susquehanna river, on the way to Chicago from New York you see from the window on the Pennsylvania Railroad's Broadway a narrow little red house in the middle of a forest clearing.

Wonderfully invigorating air in Chicago, and you feel like walking many miles along sidewalks on which, in former days, no Chicagoan ever went slowly. The rule does not hold good today. Three times in one block a slowly moving man says, as you pass, and as though it were all one word, "Ten cents for a cup of coffee, please."

That has become the formula, as on public highways, toward jerking of the thumb means a request for an automobile ride. If you contribute the ten cents or more, you rarely make a mistake, but you can see it is not expected. A shake of the head is the usual answer, the world becomes accustomed, even to misery.

Crossing a bridge over the river, you look up at the enormous building in which Samuel Insull has housed the opera of Chicago, contributing a fortune to it, and you know that after working 54 years Mr. Insull, at the age of 70, has nothing, except a pension of $18,000 a year, given to him by three companies that he created. Three years ago Mr. Insull was worth more than a hundred millions of dollars. This shows what can happen in the United States.

Ninety-eight per cent of Americans will ask, "How could Insull possibly have done this with $18,000 a year?" Two per cent will wonder, "How can he possibly live on such a small income?" Fortunately for us, as for others, what he has done is done. Buildings, machinery and organizations created will go on working, whether you have millions in the bank or bitterness in your heart.

The sidewalks of Chicago are full of life, especially for those that lead toward the convention hall. A very nice old lady, with long, wavy, grey hair, hands you a tract denouncing those that would interfere with prohibition, saying, "Take this, you will come to us in time." Another old lady with a friendly smile, "He may be as even now, he looks like a nice, quiet man." That is a terrible insult, but it is meant kindly.

Secret Probe Hits State Office

NEW EXPOSE NEAR BREAKTHROUGH

Department Not Yet Questioned
Enters Grand Jury Men
May Call Gov. Ely

Documents of a State department not previously mentioned in the Suffolk grand jury's investigation of the closed Industrial Bank & Trust Co. are in the possession of Dist. Atty. William J. Foley's detectives preparing evidence to be submitted to the jury tomorrow.

This fact became known today at the same time it was disclosed that a certain public office was questioned last night by Harry B. Quinn, the state bank examiner connected with the district attorney's force and George V. Donahue, auditor in charge of books during the inquiry.

Ninety-eight per cent of Americans will ask, "How could Insull possibly have done this with $18,000 a year?" Two per cent will wonder, "How can he possibly live on such a small income?"

PLAN TO CALL ELY. Monitored by the grand jury yesterday for the second time in the bank or bitterness in your heart. A third communication would go to the governor from the jury was not reported.

Another lady, past 60, gives you a piece of paper, saying, "Sign and read it now." On one side she says "the man who knew how to make easy money" and on the other, "a big cigar. Jesus, approaching, alas. 'Will you please sign a few more minutes' time to consider your soul's salvation!"

Those ladies are in earnest and only a fool would fail to respect them. Some among them even have a husband or father die of drink.

Booth Hot, Hits Butler, Dry Dodge

BY JOHN T. LAMBERT

Chicago, Ill., June 15.—Chairman George F. Booth went to the headquarters of the Massachusetts delegation this morning, saw his name appended to a notice which called for the convention to discuss prohibition and then exploded.

"This is a damned outrage!" he shouted. "Who called off this meeting? Who put my name on that notice?"

Executive Secretary Charles Nichols of the Republican State committee, who had been called to the scene, explained that the notice was not his work, but that of the Massachusetts delegation.

Both exploded again. "This is a damned outrage!" he shouted. "Who called off this meeting? Who put my name on that notice?"

NO MORE DUCKING. "We'll have a meeting at half-past two and I'll put it up to the delegates. If you want a vote on prohibition or don't want it, it won't be said that the Massachusetts delegation is against it."

Firestone Urges Plank for Repeal. Convention Hall, June 15 (AP).—Gilbert Bettman, one of the Ohio delegates to the Republican convention, disclosed to newspapermen today that Harvey Firestone had voiced an advocacy of prohibition repeal presentation to the Republican platform committee.

Bonus Army of 100,000 Next, to Force Action

By Elsie Robinson

Chicago, June 15 (INS).—They yanked me out of the B. E. F. trenches down in Washington to come to Chicago to cover this convention.

And what I've seen of it already, a setting here with one lame wing could cover most of it and still have room to spare.

But here's another story with more dynamite in it than ten conventions ever carried.

And what it's going to do to American history is everybody's business.

Striking barbers availed their ranks from 50 more than 400 today in a day-long demonstration against shops that refused to sign the new working agreement.

Other shops readily signed the agreement and were not bothered further, they said. At night where proprietors refused to sign groups were left to conduct picketing.

EN-GOVERNOR FULLER. Former Governor Alvan T. Fuller and Mrs. Frank Rue Butchelder, the Republican national committee woman, in conference at Chicago. Fuller, who has been the chief of the Bay State delegation for the vice-presidential nomination, said he would not run. He announced formally for Frank G. Allen for governor. The delegation today caucused on repeal of the prohibition amendment. (International News Service.)

HOUSE'S READY TO PASS BONUS

Washington, June 15 (AP).—In an effort to speed legislation to pay veterans $25,000 on their house certificates, the House today agreed to end debate and proceed at once in the consideration of a measure.

Passage of the legislation within a few hours was predicted by House leaders.

It was agreed on both sides that more debate would NOT change a vote. Representative Crisp (D., Ga.) said that "we all know the bill is going to pass and I believe, therefore, it should pass as soon as possible."

As has been the case every day this week, the galleries were filled with a host of veterans from house ownership.

Meanwhile the unemployed veterans had suffered serious misfortune. At midnight last night the temporary hospital set up by marine corps medical officers and to serve headquarters was closed. The officers said they had been swamped in trying to care for ill in the expeditionary force and had received no cooperation from federal and district health authorities.

The closing was marked by an angry exchange between Police Superintendent Glasgow and a "Veterans' Bureau" doctor when Glasgow discovered that several veterans, seriously ill, had not been transferred to the hospital.

UNITED HELD FOR MORROW MAID

Englewood, N. J., June 15 (AP)—Attended by Great Britain's leading British consular general who brought a wreath of roses to be placed on the casket, the funeral services were conducted today in an undertaking establishment for Violet May, English woman who was killed Sunday at the house of her son, Dwight W. Morrow.

Arthur Springer, one of Mrs. Morrow's secretaries, represented the family. Mrs. Morrow and her son and daughter, Dwight Morrow Jr., and Constance, were in England on the Europa today.

Meanwhile it was learned from Washington that Mrs. Morrow's death had been ruled a suicide by the coroner.

The visit was denied at the request of federal department officials who had sent agents to cooperate with the New Jersey police in an investigation of the kidnapping.

Slight to Bingham Stirs Connecticut

Chicago, June 15 (NS)—Republican convention today was raging today against the nomination of Senator Bingham of Connecticut, for seating a repeal plank, by denying him a position on the resolutions subcommittee, which drafted the new platform.

It was the first time within the memory of convention delegates that a United States senator, named by his state to the resolutions committee, was excluded from the group which actually wrote the platform.

SNELL'S HIGHLIGHTS

Chicago, June 15 (AP)—The most striking expressions from the speech by Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention, follow:

Victory has come to the Republican party because victory has been earned.

We have never become a disorganized mob under the pressure of great emergencies.

The nation has been safe when the Republican party has been in control of the government.

Everywhere, outside of the Republican party, is confusion and chaos.

The Democratic party is fatally weak because it does not command the support of confidence of the nation and because it is utterly lacking in team work.

The Democrats have a minority complex which they are unable to get rid of. As a fault-finding, caviling minority opposition they are a perfect. As a fighting, constructive majority, they are a 100 per cent failure.

C. O. P. DRYS FIGHT TO DEFEAT WETS

DEMY PLANK FEATURES

Under the resolution which the Eighteenth Amendment would be repealed, the state convention, called under Article V, but a substitute plan of control was included as a "single uniform law" suggested in the Pennsylvania plan—would be on the federal State books about the Eighteenth Amendment was repealed. This "motion" would be lodged in Congress by the state congressmen, and would be subject to amendment.

Despite the Daves announcement opposition in Vice President Curtis' renomination was very much alive, when the convention opened at 11:30 p. m. 12:32 Boston time.

It was announced for instance that the Illinois delegation today unanimously voted to demand that Daves be nominated.

NEW ROOM FOR FILLER

There was a general outburst of the drive on the part of the Massachusetts and other New England delegates about the nomination of former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller of the New York delegation.

The names of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, governor of the Philippines, and of John D. Long, governor of New Jersey and former Senator James Smith of New York also were brought out again.

The Maine delegation was polled by William Tudor, chairman of the delegation, and was solid for Daves. "If available," he said, "I never was a real revolt."

Mr. Daves said, "Of course, we'll be with Curtis. We've got to be with Curtis."

From Iowa's delegates came a similar expression.

PRY GROUP FOR REPEAL

Before Temporary Chairman Curtis' renomination was the second session of the convention there came new developments.

The prohibition situation, indicating a battle for outright repeal.

It was announced the Pennsylvania delegation had voted 35 to 17 to ask the state committee to favor repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead Act, without change in instruction to the committee.

The resolution of the question to the people.

The plank is approved by the convention, it will mean definite success to the drys. The first tentative draft that met President Hoover's approval, carried no alternative plan for controlling the alcohol. The resolution of the eighteenth amendment were repealed, and in connection with the plank, the drys, who declared a chaotic condition would be met by the President was actively intent upon keeping the support of the drys.

This would account for his hesitations in preparing a temporary plank—submitting the question of repeal but proposing a new form of control in event of repeal.

BINGHAM REPEAL PLANK

Anti prohibitionists on the resolutions committee today determined the following plank on the convention floor as a substitute for the Hoover resubmission proposal.

"We recommend that Congress immediately propose an amendment to the Constitution repealing the Eighteenth Amendment, and that the people of the several states called for that purpose in accordance with the provisions of Article Five of the Constitution of the United States."

grave hour of national distress, the Democratic party is about to ask the country to elect a candidate whose identity is synonymous with standing upon a platform whose plank will probably contradict themselves.

The solidarity of the Republican party in this crisis means the salvation of the United States.

The people will not strike down the pilot who keeps eternal vigil on the bridge of the Ship of State. And Herbert Hoover, courageously and determinedly, has kept this vigil for three years.

Herbert Hoover, the engineer-President of the United States, is solving and will solve stupendous and vexatious problems, as did our first engineer-President, Washington, for the benefit of all mankind.

The one man who today stands head and shoulders above all leaders among the nations of the world is the Republican President of the United States, Herbert Hoover.

From Point Pleasant, West Virginia, came Miss Nedra E. Wilhelm, just 21. She holds honor of being the youngest delegate to the Republican convention. (International News Photos.)

Senator Bingham of Connecticut put the proposal before the whole resolutions committee today and long debate was in progress in executive session.

The critical advocates, reported to include several states, in the East and West, united behind the Bingham plank.

Ambrose Edge, New Jersey's representative on the subcommittee joined Bingham to fight the repeal mission play on the convention floor.

"BLACK AND TANS" SAID

Without a roll call the national convention today adopted the report of the credentials committee seating the Houghton delegation from South Carolina, the Howard delegates from Mississippi.

Consider the life of a convention chairman. On Tuesday he is temporary. On Wednesday he is permanent. On Thursday he is writing his autobiography and on Friday he is back in the roughhouse with the wood-burning locomotives.

But that didn't stop Chairman Simon Fess from smacking the gavel on the dais and announcing that the Chicago convention was formally opened and let us now put them asunder.

If you hear screams, catcalls, groans and roars you will know that the Republicans are saving the country again.

If you hear screams, catcalls, groans and roars later in June you will know the Democrats are doing the same thing. Only louder.

We just heard some bad news from Washington. The Anti-

Arnold-Rose faction from Georgia and the Johnson-Jackson group from Louisiana, this setting the stage for the "Black and Tans."

There will be a session of the convention tonight when it will be the turn of the "Black and Tans" for debate and a final vote. The convention schedule calls for the election of all business tomorrow with the nomination of the presidential ticket.

Most of the male delegates have been and still are talking prohibition, but the appearance of Mrs. Dolly Davis Curtis, sister, and Alice Roosevelt Longworth, turned the attention of many of the women to the vice presidential situation.

Mrs. Gann is frankly doing what she can to get her brother renominated. Mrs. Longworth, too, is doing what she can to get her brother renominated. But she is credited in some quarters with advice to send Curtis back to private life.

The background, of course, is the much talked about difference over social precedence between the two women while the late Nick Longworth was speaker of the House.

Present Hoover still represented as using his influence for Curtis, but his own personal advisers have had to bring in the prohibition struggle it is probable whether he would direct another strenuous attempt to re-nominate the Kansas as his running mate.

HEARD FIGHT ON

It remains to be seen whether the anti-Curtis rallying cry, "Too Dry and Too Old" will rise to shouts of victory on the convention floor or whether the planks regular Republicans reserve for their nominees or they are chosen.

A third fight has developed over the question of picketing a movement to Senator Simon D. Fess as chairman of the National Committee. It is said to have narrowed down to a choice between James H. Garfield of Ohio or Everett Sanders of Indiana. But there is talk of bringing in "a hot horse" in case of a deadlock.

Two robust members, frequently mentioned for the honor, will not be candidates for it. They are Secretary of War Dyer and Postmaster-General Brown.

William A. Butler, whose name was mentioned, was eliminated from the anti-prohibitionist delegation to name him to the National Committee.

Several months ago it was reported that Friends of the President used him to counteract the campaign of Mr. Hoover's campaign this year.

The offer, though, was never made after Butler was beaten in his own election.

FULLER COMES OUT FOR ALLEN FOR GOVERNOR

Chicago, June 15—Former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller today took himself definitely out of the race for governor again and did his utmost to put Frank G. Allen in.

"I am urging former Gov. Allen to make the fight again," said Fuller. "If he will run I will take off my coat and campaign for him in every village and hamlet and ward of Massachusetts."

Fuller took occasion to reiterate his statement made early this week in the Boston Evening American that he is not and will not be a candidate for political office.

"The Republican party must bring order out of chaos," he said, "and Allen is the man under whose banner we can fight unitedly for victory."

Fuller declined to comment upon what will necessarily be construed as his opposition to Longworth's nomination for the vice-presidential nomination here by the State delegation.

"If these steps are presented to the convention I shall vote for Allen," said Fuller, "my name will not be presented."

Allen's presence, Fuller's own belief, he decided to commend.

La Follette Group Is Rebuked by Party

Chicago, June 15 (AP)—A resounding rebuke to nine La Follette members of the Wisconsin delegation and a rebuke to the credentials committee of the Republican national committee.

The charge against the La Follette faction was that they committed a form of political suicide by putting their names on the convention floor and the mention of President Hoover's name, and also during a parade of four vigorously debated Southern contests out of the worst early today of the credentials committee of the Republican national committee.

Sixteen conservative members of the Wisconsin group presented a resolution censuring the Progressives for their action. Frank J. Schaefer, leading the spokesmen. It was approved unanimously.

Indicative as it might be of going feeding, this action did not have the finality of the total vote in a South for the delegation headed by the "Teles" of Tolbert.

The administration press opposition to him and was spite his 20 years as national committeewoman, but the delegation from Mississippi headed by Perry Howard, Jr., also administration was so vigorously opposed.

Those Catcalls Show G.O.P. Is Saving Country Again

By Arthur ('Bugs') Baer

The Stadium, Chicago, June 15—

Consider the life of a convention chairman. On Tuesday he is temporary. On Wednesday he is permanent. On Thursday he is writing his autobiography and on Friday he is back in the roughhouse with the wood-burning locomotives.

But that didn't stop Chairman Simon Fess from smacking the gavel on the dais and announcing that the Chicago convention was formally opened and let us now put them asunder.

If you hear screams, catcalls, groans and roars you will know that the Republicans are saving the country again.

If you hear screams, catcalls, groans and roars later in June you will know the Democrats are doing the same thing. Only louder.

We just heard some bad news from Washington. The Anti-

Saloon League has taken down Johnnie Rockefeller's picture, says had.

Why didn't they let it hang where it was? And just point his nose red?

We tried to locate Rockefeller in Chicago. We figured an interview with him would be a big feather in our chicken coop.

But we couldn't locate sunny boy. He came and went as silently as Greta Garbo's eyebrows. He was only mentioned in. We wanted to give him a new lease in heaven, all quiet before Emily Post gave him some stern words. We hope you boys haven't forgotten that you must lay a nickel on the line for beer before you head in for the free lunch.

The heirs to the old bearded estate got a wallow when Nicholas Murray Butler was introduced so far the hohoes can use him for an all-around head home. The last we saw of Nick he was out in Lake Michigan using his beer plank for a cork board.

Make no mistake about this convention. The omnipotent Hoover may not be present in person, but he has everything under control like a boy with a milk bottle full of grasshoppers.

The first mention of Herbert's name got two minutes' applause. Then the band joined in to whop it up.

The tune was, "My Country, My Country."

That made 'em sober up. Two minutes' applause ain't much for a President when you figure that old Eddie Leonard used to howl for an hour after singing, "Red Them Roly Eyes."

Old-time Republicans claim the band made an unfortunate selection when it picked "My Country, My Country" and that "Sweet Boy and Boy" or even the lifting strains of "The Prisoner's Song" would have stretched the spontaneous outburst in the yawning point.

The Vice-President has not yet been selected. Curtis, Daves, Coolidge and the other boys have sent their last message to the folks and are ready.

If it is Daves again it's his own fault for coming back. He was safe in England, once.

Red Demonstration Blocked by Police

Chicago, June 15 (NS)—A crowd of 1000 Communists met here for a "radical convention," and, despite promises made in authoritative, started a march upon the Chicago stadium, where the Republican convention was in progress.

The demonstration floundered when police reserves, held at the stadium, halted the marchers at the dead line, a block away.

Plant and vegetable life are not the only things needing rain apparently. Fan mail, the favorite flower of those who breathe into as well as out of air that once was free, blooms profusely when skies are overcast.

RAIN OR SHINE?

Consider Sunday and Monday evenings for example. Since about 1925, there has been a noticeable increase in letters from listeners. So much so it causes broadcasters to decline themselves in favor of singing while it rains.

Listenership patterns remain in evidence during wet weather, even Sunday. What could be sweeter for "mike" men and women?

Proof of the foregoing being fact, not fancy, is freely volunteered by executives at the helm of Boston sound sanctuaries. To it from John Clark and Walter (Hapi) Myers at WEZ. Charles (Chap) Louis Whitcomb at WEEL as well as Roy Harlow and C. Gordon Jones of the Yankee Network.

ALL STAR AIR RAIL

Something likely to be the germ of an idea struck all over what took place on the dial Monday night (WNAC) between 9:30 and 10 o'clock. Perhaps a few commercial sponsors also observed carefully—who knows? Monday evening, live wire French master of extemporizing for prominent perfume brewers, staged a farewell party during his last hour. He is leaving for Paris and his program spot of the waves for the summer. Many CBS stars attended and contributed talent. Products of their respective backers were given a sparkling plug. Singin' Sam was there, with songs and a ruse. Monsieur a touch of your-know-what kind of shuffling came to take with him. Norman Brodman stepped up, presenting the Bowler Sisters. Naturally certain live cigarettes were gracefully mentioned. Then Lenox Ross took his turn, winning effective praise for his coffee making employers. Colonel Stoopnagle came in with Bud, thus affording an opportunity to remind Monsieur how pure soap of a well known brand never fails to float. Summing up, the program was one of the best heard in many months.

Court Rules It's Not Illegal to Play Awful on Cornet

Chicago, June 13 (AP)—No matter how badly he may play, a cornet player is still within the law. Apparently that was the conclusion of Judge Green in the case of Policeman James Keating v. Charles Dellingshoff.

"He was," said the policeman, "the worst player I ever heard." "Is that a crime?" asked the court.

"Well, it ought to be a crime to play as badly as this man did," Keating replied. "But what we're charging him with is disturbing the peace. He was walking around as a sidewalk man, disturbing a shoe repair shop and he played the cornet on people."

THE MORE I READ political experts the more I admire sport writers.

PROF. ROGERS

There is a hardy and chivalrous tradition in sports writing which says that so many days before a major boxing bout the various experts and near-experts must come out flat-footed and pick the winner. The same with the major college football games and crew races, and the World's Series. And the same—only here it is a matter of hours, perhaps, rather than of days—with major races by running horses.

"Personally I said state Senator Burlap, 'I am voting for the man who, deserted by his own constituents, needs a federal office now more than ever, not only for himself but for those who are near and dear to him, our own Brunkhart, who, along with the 18th Amendment, must be preserved! Can any of you boys direct me to the nearest drug-store? My supply of mouth-wash has all run out.'"

There's where the sports writers shine. They have no truck with the Senator Burlaps of the sports game. They follow their hunches.

New York, June 15.—The stock market in Wall Street showed a strong tone today. Gains were spectacular, leaders rising about a point each and ending at new record points, but the underdone market continued to show signs of being in a long time.

Conversion of the last of the French dollar balances into gold, freshening the end of the gold drain on the country, was the bullish influence with its accompanying fresh strength in the dollar.

Unfavorable trade news was ignored. The mid-week steel review revealed a further decline in the industry's operations and held out little hope for an immediate upturn, but both U. S. Steel common and preferred moved ahead of the point.

Allied Chemical and Eastman Kodak were strong specialties. Auburn sold over 7 points above last night's close. Outstanding leaders included American Telephone, American Gas, Consolidated Gas, and Westinghouse.

Western Union moved up despite the omission of the dividend yesterday. Case Threshing ignored further weakness in the market. Prices in the next day or two are expected to advance in Canada. The prices in the next day or two are expected to advance in Canada.

United States Steel issues were active and strong today, imparting a somewhat more cheerful tone to other categories.

GOLD STANDARD SAFE
Under the circumstances leading financiers declared it probable even to imagine the United States would abandon the gold standard. At the same time, the changes continued to decline in value to the point where they were reported European were actually buying securities in this market.

Commercial corporation funds failed to follow the market, although they held comparatively steady in bid trading. It was learned that the new American Securities Investing Company, with a capital of $100,000, is feeling the pinch in the market and has difficulty in picking up any sizeable blocks of bonds at current prices. The market was declared to be unusually thin.

Bankers regarding the accomplishment of a net reduction in our gold stock in September, with scarcely a ripple in the money market, as one of the outstanding features of the history of banking, felt that an important step toward the reduction of the money market had been accomplished.

Wall Street also seemed as if it were in an adjustment of Congress to any further probable early development. Bankers and money writers seemed to expect that an end of legislative uncertainty would be highly constructive.

The dollar strengthened further in the foreign exchange market. French franc opened at 33 cents and closed at 33 cents. The dollar was strong in the foreign exchange market. French franc opened at 33 cents and closed at 33 cents.

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

Party leaders declare that the people as a whole have confidence in the future.

But, we might add, not quite enough confidence in the party.

of the present.

That's the trouble with party politics—to get along a man has to be a sort of a confidence man.

TOO MANY ARE DOING JUST THAT, ALFRED

J. ALFRED DUNKLEY.

"Protective," snarls Genevieve the kitchen cynic, "is the way a gent feels toward a dog gal with somebody else."

"I live down by the river. Drop in sometime."

Q. AND A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Sympathetic Aunt Bella— Could you tell me, my good woman, in just what manner "plains" is pronounced?—INTERESTED.

Ans.—

As a general rule, Madame, Aunt Bella, I am in a position to be a matter which gives her a pain in the neck. Aunt Bella and Aunt Bella.

LONDON—The British broadcast monopoly, which is licensed by Parliament, has decided to abolish all "Radio Uncles" who talk down to children, and instead use an Oxford graduate who will talk to children in his own words.

Political leaders are making contributions are holding off until they find what the parties really stand for. When which is not bad. At that rate, money will have any money until about 1935.

HAVE NOTHING TO SAY AND INSIST ON NOT SAYING IT!

"What the world needs at this moment is more people with a dogmatic purpose in life."—Prof. Benjamin Jacques DeGroot.

DeGroot: Knows, more or less, what he's talking about.

But some of us muster and mumble and sigh and view with alarm the purposeful guy.

Consider, for instance, the people you meet rushing here, rushing there, up alley and street.

So check full of purpose, it is our belief.

That to meet some one aimless is quite a relief.

In fact, we'd amend for Professor DeGroot.

The dogma he purposely handles about.

And urge for more people (we'll hire a hall).

To have for a purpose no purpose at all.

THE VOICE OF THE WAY By LOUIS SOBEL Snapshots at Random!

Those singing and playing blind musicians who weed their way slowly through the crowds on Broadway... I've noticed that the ones who seem to be the most successful among the afflicted live the greatest of lives. They are the "passers-by." This apparent barrier, I presume, in face of the terrible handicap, which doom them, softens the heartstrings—and the purse strings. The more girls are coming into their own, the more they are coming into their own.

"I don't mean the elderly women who have their hands along the street, but the comely little girls who carry papers and their arms and about their extra-ordinary enticement. One at the Claremont Inn, the other night, I saw two stout men stop in a taxi and suddenly one of them pointed to the driver and started to leave, but was restrained by the other. He had noticed that the driver was a woman and was looking at her with a look of interest. He was a woman and was looking at her with a look of interest.
